PROFILE

Edward Bullinger is a London-based actor, musician and visual artist. Having performed professionally for over a decade as the drummer with UK rock band Morganway, he brings extensive live performance experience, discipline and authenticity to his acting. Edward has trained with LAMDA, The Unseen Acting School and is currently continuing his professional development with the Identity School of Acting. His recent monologue work at The Unseen Acting School received strong assessments for presence, vocal performance, originality and connection. Alongside acting, he is a session musician and abstract painter, holding a BA (Hons) Fine Art Painting (2:1) from Norwich University of the Arts.

SELECTED PROFESSIONAL FEEDBACK

"Edward demonstrates an engaging balance of playfulness and menace with authentic energy throughout the performance. His vocal work carries tonal shifts confidently, while his willingness to embrace darker emotional colours creates a compelling screen presence. His performances show strong duality, sustained energy and originality."
